NUMBER 240

Mackin, the democratic leader and conspirator in the election frauds, has been indicted with a large number of other democrats.

Mr. Spurgeon smokes and believes in smoking, because the bible does not say against it, and every tobacco journal in the country is publishing his opinion on smoking.

Governor Rusk will observe the Jeffersonian simplicity on inauguration day. There will be no fuss or feathers about the matter. The officers will simply take the oath administered by Chief Justice Cole and then go to work in their respective departments.

There is a strong doubt that the senate will ratify the Spanish treaty. One democrat says that sugar would not be made cheaper to American consumers so long as any portion of our supply comes from countries paying the tax. The Cuban planters would simply pocket the duty, which would otherwise go into the treasury of the United States. If an appropriation of $20,000,000 per annum were made by law as a bonus to the Cuban planters the effect would be the same.

The proposed Spanish treaty for Cuba and Porto Rico, is the chief topic of discussion in commercial circles, and a great variety of opinions is expressed in regard to it. It is hard to balance the different views, but the general drift of them seems to be against the ratification of the convention. Every one agrees, however, that action by the government should not be delayed longer than is necessary to allow full discussion after the treaty is officially and correctly published. Uncertainty is injurious to the tobacco and sugar industries.

Mr. A. B. Wilson, the inventor of the famous Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine has become insane from prolonged disputation and has been taken to an asylum. Thirty-five years ago he was a poor mechanic. He invented the sewing machine which is known and used in all civilized lands on the globe, and in a few years came in possession of a princely income. But Wilson could not bear up under such marvelous prosperity. He could have become one of the richest men in the country, but his money he could not keep. He looked like a tramp on the streets of Waterbury, Connecticut, and all there is left of the great fortune he made is an elegant residence devoted to his wife and daughters.

A statement of the progress of the Missouri lake assembly, by the executive committee, shows that the balance on hand Nov. 1, 1883, was $647,077; receipts at the summer campmeeting of 1883, $7,113,779; increased, etc., $1,541,774; total, $8,462,630. The disbursements during the year were $2,202,707. The assets now include: Assembly grounds (first cost), $2,000; almshouse, $2,400; 200 tents, $2,200; etc., $1,700; dining hall, office and pavilion, $100, and other property, making an aggregate of $12,800.52. The liabilities include $2,000 due on the Lake, real property and notes, accounts, etc., aggregating $7,000; the excess of assets over liabilities being $10,800.59. The sale of tickets and receipts aggregated $1,430,177 in 1881; $3,177,341 in 1882; $5,740,770 in 1883; and $6,779,732 in 1884. The cost of the programme for the four years has been as follows: For 1881, $575,155; 1882, $1,238,300; 1883, $1,712,100; 1884, $2,347,760.

When Captain Dudley and Miss Stephens were shipwrecked in mid-ocean, and almost dead of starvation, they killed the cabin boy for food. When they were rescued they supposed they would be treated as heroes the same as Greely was, but they found that England is not the United States, and when they confessed to the killing of the boy they did so to make the story more terrible and to show the public to what straits they had been driven. But instead of attracting public sympathy, they were arrested, tried, convicted of murder, and sentenced to be hanged. Lord Coleridge, who was lionized in this country last year, pronounced the death sentence. Undoubtedly the crown will grant a reprieve and let the man off with some light punishment. This ruling of the English court is not intended to make cannibalism popular.

There seems to be a good deal of fuss and dispute as to how Mr. Cleveland shall be inaugurated. There ought not to be any bad feeling and disagreement about it, as the question is a very simple one. Should the president-elect arrive in Washington on the evening of the 3d of March, let him take the street cars or a hack for the Ebbott house where lodging and meals can be had for four dollars a day. The next forenoon he can go to the capitol escorted by "Boss" Manning, Chairman Barnum, John Kelly, Colonel Viles, Thad. Pound, and a few others. The crowd on assembly on the east side of the capitol, as is usual on such occasions, and after prayer by the Rev. Dr. Burdell, Mr. Cleveland can take the oath of office at the east portico, then read his address, go to the white house by way of Pennsylvania avenue, where dinner will be served hot, (he will need it hot as all inauguration days are cold and stormy in Washington) after which he can go to his desk, fall to work and not leave till midnight unless he likes. All this is simple enough, and the whole business need not occupy more than two hours.

AN AGE OF WONDERS.
On every hand there is a marvelous display of American enterprise. What an American can't think of is certainly not in the catalogue of wonders. To be first in everything except conservatism, is the American instinct. American genius never lags, and it never slumbers.

It is the first one up in the morning and the last to retire at night.

There was a feeling that President Arthur should set the complicated and wonderful machinery in motion when it opened next week. The southern people want him to do it, because, like the people of the north, they think a good deal of President Arthur. But the president can't go to New Orleans this month on account of congress being in session; so Commissioner General Morehead, and Senators Lamar and Hampton called upon him the other day, and requested him to open the exposition by electricity! Well, how is this to be done? This is the plan. One of the Western Union wires is to be cleared all the way from Washington to New Orleans. The New Orleans and is to be attached to the motive-power machinery in the exposition, and the Washington end will be connected with the white house. At a fixed moment, everything being in readiness in New Orleans the president surrounded by his cabinet, members of congress, judges, government officials and foreign representatives, will press a button in the executive mansion and instantaneously set the vast machinery of the exposition in motion.

ABOUT SENATORIAL CANDIDATES.

In discussing the senatorial question, those who are opposed to Colonel Spooner attempt to prejudice the public against him on the ground that some time ago he was solicitor for the Omaha and Minneapolis railway. They hold that a man who has anything to do with a railway company as attorney or agent is not fit for the senate, no matter how conspicuous his ability or how unimpeachable his integrity. This is a trick that is often played by papers and persons who haven't brains enough to discuss the senatorial question on its merits. If every man who has performed any service for a railway or other corporation should be taken from the United States senate, or should be prohibited from going there, there wouldn't be brains enough in that body to draft a bill or keep the senate from falling in disgrace before the country.

Because a man, distinguished for ability, should be employed by a railway company to try a difficult case or transact other important business, is that any ground for belief that that man would be under the influence of railways if sent to the senate? Have the people no more confidence in humanity than that? Do they think that a great lawyer can't do a certain piece of professional work for a corporation without being morally poisoned by the influence of that corporation? Is there any more harm in procuring the rights of a railway than there is in defending the interests of an individual?

There was the senate of the United States the men who have time and again been employed in difficult cases by railway companies, and every man who has ability enough to command the honor of the people and attract the attention of the country would be driven out. The malice-motives there, and the best men there, would vacate their seats. Edmunds, Sherman, Cameron, of our own state, Lamar, Beck, Bayard, and every other senator of true ability and well-known integrity, would be among those who would have to go, and what would then become of the senate? It would be a humiliation and a burning shame to our intelligence and civilization.

When a railway company or any other great corporation wants any important legal services, it seeks out a man of brains, learning and good judgment, and pays the price. One of the railway companies wanted just such a man as this to do some work for it, and it selected Colonel Spooner, and it was an honor to the colonel that he thus had the confidence of a great corporation, and the corporation showed wisdom in selecting him. He did his work well and to the complete satisfaction of the company, and when he got through he quit the company's service.

A railway company employee first class talent when it wants any work done, and the people should be equally as wise as a railway company when they want a man for the United States senate. Colonel Spooner is not only a man of brains, of courage, of eloquence, of learning—but he is a man of Gibraltar-like integrity. He is just such a man as not only the republican party, but the state needs in the senate.

Conference of Prohibitionists.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 12.—The Prohibitionists of New Jersey met in Temperance hall in this city Thursday. There were 300 representatives present from various parts of the state. Mayor W. B. Maxson, of Plainfield, presided. The meeting began with the singing of the doxology. It was announced that the object of the meeting was to form a plan for publishing prohibition legislation in the coming legislature. Addresses were delivered by A. A. Hopkins, editor of The American Reformer, and by Mr. Woodbridge and Mrs. Seabrook, the founders of the Women's National Christian Temperance union.

Business Troubles.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 12.—Erastus Almy, millinery, has assigned to David S. Selig, Jr. Reported liabilities, about $30,000.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 12.—Westcott & Co., stock brokers, have made an assignment. The total preferences are $25,377. This assignment includes the Buffalo branch of the house, the partnership being dissolved. The Utica branch was dissolved.

The Slave Trade on the Congo. BERLIN, Dec. 12.—A proposition to abolish the slave trade in the Congo country will be submitted to the conference committee by Sir Edward Malet, English delegate to the conference. The proposal will be warmly supported by the American delegates, and will look toward the entire abolition of the traffic both on the coast and in the interior.

The horrors connected with the Crouch murders at Jackson, Mich., received reinforcement Thursday by the attempt of a witness to cut his throat.

Don't neglect your cough! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will quickly cure it and prevent consumption.

CALLING FOR MILITIA.

SERIOUS TROUBLE AT THE ANGUS IOWA MINES.

The Governor Asked for Troops and Sheriff and His posse Surround— Attempted Blow-Up at Nelsonville, Ohio.

DES MOINES, Dec. 12.—Great excitement prevailed at Angus Wednesday on account of the striking coal miners, and trouble and shots of some moment. Telegrams were received by the governor and mayor of the city early in the day, asking for help in case of trouble. Governor Sherman answered that he would advise the adjutant general and order him to be ready for prompt action. The local authorities said it was absolutely necessary to have a military force in order to quell the disturbances. A number of shots have been fired, and the community is in a state of the wildest excitement.

The strike has been in progress all summer and was precipitated by a reduction of wages. Several gangs of men have been brought in by the operators, but have invariably been evicted or driven out of town by the strikers. For the past two days the sheriff of Boone county has been in Angus serving personal injunctions on the miners to restrain them from interfering with the last importation of laborers, brought down from Minneapolis. These went to work Wednesday, and have caused the present critical state of affairs.

The following dispatch was received by Governor Sherman from Angus at 8 o'clock Wednesday night:

It is in your power have Gen. Alexander get the militia out tonight. The striking miners are assembling with a strongly expressed determination to take the mine to force the operators to give in. If any deaths occur they will be charged to the tardy action of the state government. Do all you can for us, as these men are in danger.

The governor ordered the company of militia at Stuart to repair to the scene of action. The governor's guards, fifty strong, assembled in this city ready to start on special train. Angus is an hour and a half's run from here. It is learned that the strikers are well armed with shot-guns and small arms, which they have bought up in the neighboring villages. It looks now as if they would be a serious riot.

LATK.—A committee representing the strikers are in the city and have been conferring with the adjutant general, endeavoring to persuade him to keep the militia away. They claim that the situation is not so grave as reported. They were informed that the call for help came from such a source that it must be heeded, and were asked to produce a powerful statement of the troubles. They promised to do so. It was decided not to send the troops Wednesday night, and that two companies will go on the morning train.

Just advices from Angus are to the effect that the strikers have the sheriff and his posse surrounded in a house, and are holding them there as prisoners.

BEHIND THE BARS.

Will A. Harrington Arrested for Crooked Work in Milwaukee.

He attempted to play a confidence game and was captured.

Mr. Will A. Harrington, who figured quite conspicuously in this city during the recent political campaign as an Irish laboring man, and who, after making a very bad speculation in a lumber deal with Mr. A. E. Burpee and M. G. Jeffris, left for Milwaukee last Saturday morning, was arrested in that city last evening, under an assumed name, the following dispatch from Milwaukee to the Chicago Evening Journal giving all the particulars so far received:

"MILWAUKEE, December 11.—A man calling himself W. A. Harrington, who represented himself as the president of the Independent Mining company was arrested to-day, on the charge of forgery. He purchased of O. L. Packard $2,400 worth of goods; of H. S. Mack, $2,500; of the Goodyear rubber company, $2,400; of J. F. Wallis, $2,250, and paid the bills with forged checks on the Ishpeming National bank."

The above does not include all of Harrington's crooked work. On Saturday last, upon his arrival in Milwaukee, he visited the hardware house of O. L. Packard representing himself as Mr. S. C. Cobb, a half-brother of Mr. S. C. Cobb, and that he was there purchasing agent. He bought a bill of goods, and Mr. Packard, mistaking something wrong, sent the following dispatch here:

"MILWAUKEE, Dec. 6. The above does not include all of Harrington's crooked work. On Saturday last, upon his arrival in Milwaukee, he visited the hardware house of O. L. Packard representing himself as Mr. S. C. Cobb, a half-brother of Mr. S. C. Cobb, and that he was there purchasing agent. PERSONAL.

Rev. C. E. Goldthorpe, of the First M. E. church, returned home last evening from Milwaukee, where he has been for two or three days attending the Moody meeting, and assisting in conducting the same.

Hon. Joseph V. Quarles, of Racine, was in the city yesterday and last night, attending to legal business in our circuit court, and returned home this morning. While in the city he was the guest of Ogden H. Fethers, Esq.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dewey, of Cherry street, was the scene of a quiet, though pleasant event on Wednesday, Dec. 10th, in the marriage of their daughter, Miss Minnie Dewey, to Mr. George G. Paris, both of Janesville. The ceremony took place at half past seven o'clock, the Rev. J. F. Connover, D. D., pastor of Trinity church, officiating.

Sad Death of Mr. Anton Warming.—Yesterday, Mr. John N. Warming, who resides on Milton avenue, just beyond the city limits, learned of the sad death of his son, Anton Warming, which occurred near Chateau, Montana, on November 13th. Mr. Warming was in the mountains, when a fire took hold upon him. He tells the story of his own death, which was written in a memorandum book, and found on his person when his body was discovered. He says:

TUESDAY, Nov. 18th, 1884. This memorandum is to certify that the undersigned met with an accident here as follows: On Monday night, being last night, I heard a crash, and by the time that I was fairly awake, a fire took hold of me, striking me about the abdomen and the thighs, leaving my legs entirely powerless and also without feeling, but I have severe pains in the abdomen, causing me to think that there is a rupture, and also a considerable pain in the breast and especially in the spine, so that I am unable to rise to a sitting posture, or turn in my bed. I have to be on my back constantly. I am constantly shaking, which I think is caused by the pain. If somebody don't come to rescue me pretty soon, I expect I am done for this world. I sent a note tied in a faded blue silk handkerchief by my dog Nip, but the chances are that it was lost. Hoping forgiveness of all the world, I conclude by signing myself, (Signed) ANTON WARMING, "Old Agency, Montana."

A gentleman by the name of Edward G. Yorub, one of the parties who found the note, writing to Miss Anton Warming, a sister of the unfortunate man, after giving an account of the search for the missing man, says:

"His remains were found under a fallen tree by Abel McKnight and Vittel Warr, of this place, between two and three o'clock Thanksgiving Day
